HOW DO I VISIT THE NHS WALES E-LIBRARY FOR HEALTH?

Our website is available 24/7 elh.nhs.wales or scan this QR code instead.

ABOUT:

The NHS Wales e-Library for health manages the national digital e-resources accessed by all NHS Wales Staff and other authorised users.

We work closely with local health libraries and Information services across NHS Wales to provide you with high quality, evidence-based health care information across all disciplines.

Is something missing that you think should be available nationally? Make a recommendation through your local librarian, through an e-Library champion, or just get in touch directly.
DATABASES
Search for health and care information with access to: MEDLINE, Embase, PsycINFO, HMIC, MIDIRS, AMED, EMCare, British Nursing Database, Cochrane Library, Micromedex Health Series, PEDro and Social Care Online:

elh.nhs.wales/databases

E-JOURNALS

elh.nhs.wales

TRAINING & SUPPORT
If you are looking for online training, training guides from suppliers and e-Library How-To videos: elh.nhs.wales/how-to

Your local library or information service can also organise training and support too.

GUIDELINES
Get national access to current and reliable professional guidelines such as Royal Marsden Manual of Clinical Nursing Procedures Online and iRefer radiological investigation guidelines that are available to all users.

elh.nhs.wales/guidelines

MEDICINES INFORMATION
Access current medicines information from Micromedex and British National Formulary (BNF and BNFc). Information on how to download the BNF apps to your device can be found here:

elh.nhs.wales/guidelines

e-LEARNING
With national access to BMJ Learning, users can create a profile to collect CPD and CME points through high quality, evidence based modules that cover wide ranging topics for professional skills as well as clinical topics.

elh.nhs.wales/e-learning

EVIDENCE SUMMARIES
Search through evidenced-based topic summaries to find the latest evidence-based research, guidelines, and professional opinions to support diagnosis, treatment, and prevention. Find patient information leaflets, procedure videos, and other features unique to each e-Resource

Access BMJ Best Practice, Clinical Key and Clinical Key Nursing or download the apps onto your device:

elh.nhs.wales/evidence-summaries

NEW FEATURES
The expanded Reference Room connects directly to national and professional organisations and services across Wales, the UK and the world:

elh.nhs.wales/reference-room

Our new Common Room includes multimedia links, including Podcasts, and a blog for e-Journal reviews to be shared:

elh.nhs.wales/common-room

Check in with the latest news to discover important updates and more:

elh.nhs.wales/news1
HOW DO I START USING THE E-LIBRARY?
If you’re using a device that’s connected to the NHS Wales network, there’s no need to log in. Just start here: elh.nhs.wales or from your local library website.

WHAT IF I’M AT HOME, OR USING PUBLIC WIFI?
If you have an NHS Wales email address you can log in with those details.
If you don’t have an NHS Wales email address, you can self-register for an OpenAthens account: elh.nhs.wales/openathens
You will also need an NHS Wales library barcode and password to sign-in to NHS Wales LibrarySearch to view full text articles and e-books when you are not on the NHS Wales network. Contact your local library service for how to join: www.nhswls.org

WHAT IS NHS WALES LIBRARYSEARCH?
NHS Wales LibrarySearch is an online discovery tool which allows you to search all local and nationally provided printed and electronic resources from NHS Wales Library and Knowledge Service, and NHS Wales e-Library for Health.

THE E-LIBRARY IS AN EXCELLENT SOURCE OF LITERATURE TO SUPPORT UP TO DATE EVIDENCE BASED PRACTICE